How To Use Your Operating Log

RCA

Room
N = 2600
E = 3500
S = 800
W = 1750

FCC Rules require that records be maintained on the operation of base stations in mobile systems in which the following must be included:

- 1 Date and time station is on the air.
- 2 Signature of each station operator for the time he is on duty.
- 3 Call signs of stations contacted with date, time and approximate duration of transmissions.
- 4 Details of communications related to emergencies, fires, accidents. Notations of harmful interference.
- 5 Notation of visual daily check of tower lights on and off, when used.

Special Notes

Operators must sign—not initial—the log.

No log entry may be erased. Correct faulty entries by lining them out and entering correct information above original entry.

It is not necessary to log individual communications with mobile units.

Stations having a failure of the top tower light which cannot be repaired within 30 minutes must report failure to the Federal Aviation Agency by telephone or telegraph and report again when light has been repaired.

FCC Rules require that logs be retained for one year.

This operating log is required in addition to the regular station maintenance log.
